WHITES EVICTED!

Mr. Justice Griffiths, sitting with Lord Widgery, the Lord Chief Justice, in the High Court, has recently ordered Hillingdon Council to immediately provide a house for an Ethiopian national, even though she has only just arrived in this country, and has absolutely no connection with the West London borough.

Ethiopia is not part of the Commonwealth, nor does it have strong colonial links with Britain, yet this woman leaped straight to the head of a council house waiting list — by law!

Sophia Streeting arrived in this country from her home in Greece (!) to attend the funeral of the man with whom she had been living. On arrival, she decided to stay here rather than return to Ethiopia.

Although she has no connection with any local housing authority, she was given temporary accommodation which cost over £2000.

Her application to be housed immediately was then brought before the High Court which ruled that Hillingdon Council must find her a permanent home.

EXTRAORDINARY DECISION

After this extraordinary decision, even Mr. John Watts, Leader of Hillingdon Council, declared:

"We find it difficult to believe Parliament intended to impose upon Hillingdon a responsibility for housing the homeless of the World."

What is even more incredible is that while the Housing (Homeless Persons) Act 1977 has thus been used to force our Councils to house any newly arrived alien, this same Act has failed to provide a home for a British newlywed couple who faced eviction.

Norman and Patricia Taylor were recently evicted from the terraced house in which they had lived in the few months since they were married.

In tears they piled their belongings out on the street, and as a final resort they went, with their belongings, to the Chelmsford Housing Department to plead their case.

"LEGAL OBLIGATION"

They were told by Council

Officers that the Council was not under any "legal obligation" to find them temporary accommodation or to house them.

The Taylors were furious with the explanation given by the Council, and Norman said:

"Perhaps if we had just landed at Heathrow Airport, things would be different and we could get somewhere to live."

Even councils which are not known for their totally grovelling attitude before the demands of immigrant groups are finding themselves trapped by housing regulations into granting more homes to Immigrants than to Whites.

Slough, Bucks, has a Conservative Council, which two years ago cut off its grant to the Community Relations Council because it was indulging in political activities by distributing anti-National Front literature.

Yet last year in Slough four out of every ten Council houses were allocated to coloured Immigrants which make up just 15 per cent of the population of that town.

However the inquisitors of the Commission for Racial Equality have decided that even this is not enough! The Council's Tory leaders now have to submit to a "trial" by the CRE to answer their allegations of discrimination against "non-white" housing applicants.

FOOTING THE BILL

Ratepayers of Slough are having to foot the bill for this investigation which is expected to last for twelve months at a cost of over £40,000.

The CRE is doing its job well, because in February this year the allocations of Slough council houses to Coloureds had risen to over 60%.

With Councils, such as Slough, being pressured into housing such a disproportionate number of Blacks, we can only imagine what is happening in areas controlled by rabidly pro-Immigrant Councils.

The latest Immigrant influx, which is threatening to push White families further down the housing queues is that of the so-called "Boat People" from Vietnam.

Vietnam is another country with which we have no Commonwealth links, and yet Margaret Thatcher has agreed to take thousands of these aliens.

With the High Court ruling in the Sophia Streeting case, these Immigrants will now all be entitled to the council houses for which our own young families have to wait years.

Wirral Borough Council, Merseyside, not only planned to allocate houses for these Vietnamese "refugees" but also held a special meeting to set up a support group for them.

TENANTS OUTRAGED

The Woodchurch Tenants' Association were outraged by this scheme. They attended the meeting and a spokesman declared that the Vietnamese would be accepted "over our dead bodies".

This action has forced Wirral Council to reconsider its plan, but the multi-racialists are determined that the British people take second place in their own country.

Only by the National Front policy of putting British people FIRST can we ensure a decent home and a decent future for our children.

During this meeting, the letter alleged, Mr. Banks called for Mr. Brons' dismissal.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS PARASITES' CASH BONANZA

WHILE many of our essential services are being hit by the spending cuts imposed by Margaret Thatcher's Conservative Government, the Community Relations Industry is continuing to boom.

All over the country more money than ever before is being used to make sure that Black youths get jobs, that Black couples get houses, and that Black criminals get minimal sentences in the courts.

The Government-sponsored Commission for Racial Equality is expected to have spent over £6 million in the year 1979/80 which is an increase of over 20 per cent on the previous year.

But much of the money that is spent on helping Immigrants is directly given either to Immigrant groups or to local Community Relations Councils by the Government or by local authorities.

In 1974/75 the City of Manchester gave their local Community Relations Council a grant of just £2000. This year the grant is over £30,000 — a massive fifteen fold increase — while their spending on old peoples' welfare has barely kept up with inflation.

In Leicester in just one year between 1978 and 1979 the grant to the local Community Relations Council increased by over 31 per cent, in the same year spending on our old folk went up by just 13 per cent. This type of figure can be found throughout the country.

One of the latest methods of handing out vast sums is under Section II of the Local Government Act 1966. Under this section grants are made by the Government to local authorities to tackle "racial disadvantage".

In Birmingham this grant for 1979/80 was £1.9 million, up 14 per cent on the previous year; in Leicester it was £1.1 million; in Wolverhampton and Bradford it was £1.0 million each; and in the Inner London Education Authority area it was a massive £5.9 million.

Even in Avon, in the heart of the West Country, this grant was over £350,000 — an increase of 22 per cent on the previous year.

While these huge sums of money are being squandered, our own most basic services are being cut back.

In schools throughout Britain there is a drastic shortage of text books and other equipment, which is so essential if our children are to receive an adequate education.

HOSPITALS CLOSED

In some areas it has been necessary to close down hospitals because of the lack of money, while in others the standard of comfort and care for even seriously ill patients has become heavily restricted.

With some services, savings now are storing up greater expenses for the future — the lack of routine maintenance now on our roads will mean that major reconstruction work may become necessary over the next few years.

A few — mainly Labour — Councils have decided not to implement any cuts in their spending. Instead, they simply borrow more money at extortionate interest rates, and impose huge rates increases of up to 49.9 per cent, as in Lambeth, South London.

The time has come to stop this madness by dismantling the entire Community Relations Industry and spending our money on the services which are really needed.

TORY M.P. DENIES BACKING REDS' BID TO SACK N.F. CHAIRMAN ANDREW BRONS

AT THE recent conference of the National Union of Students it was resolved to mount a campaign to get NF Chairman Andrew Brons sacked from his post as lecturer in government and politics at Harrogate College of Further Education.

This decision came as no surprise as the NUS is run by a 'Broad Left Alliance' of Communist Party and Labour Party Marxists.

Its last President, Trevor Phillips, is Black. Its new President, David Aaronovitch, is Jewish. Both are CP members.

What did come as a surprise was an allegation of behind-the-scenes Conservative Party backing for the NUS victimisation campaign.

After the NUS conference the Harrogate College's Students' Union was pressed to convene a general meeting on 4th May, and to invite Trevor Phillips to propose a motion calling on the authorities to dismiss Mr. Brons because his status "gives the NF an acceptable and respectable front".

On Monday 28th April Mr. Brons received an anonymous letter, posted in Harrogate, which claimed that Harrogate's Conservative MP, Robert Banks, had called at the College in order to see its Principal, Mr. Peter Drake. Mr. Drake was out at a Rotary Club meeting, so Mr. Banks saw the Deputy-Principal, Mr. Lewis Burgess.

second occasion he was "not available", but his secretary promised to ask him to return the call. The call was not returned.

Eventually a letter — delivered by hand to his office — evoked a return call from Mr. Banks' secretary who stated:

"All Mr. Banks wishes to say is that he did not have an interview at Harrogate College of Further Education with the Deputy-Principal. The responsibility for appointments and dismissals at the college is the responsibility of the relevant education authority."

When asked if the denial that such a meeting took place at the

THANK GOD FOR OUR YOUNG MEMBERS!

SINCE April 1977 NF marches have been the continual target of lethal violence from the Red Mob. As a result, Old folk and family groups have become, understandably, a rare sight on our columns. But as the pressure of violence, injuries, arrests and media lies increased, another category of dropout emerged: those who feared not just for their safety, but for their "respectability".

An element among this second category have attempted to 'justify' their dereliction by saying: "There are too many youngsters — especially skinheads — on NF marches these days and not enough respectable older people." But "respectable older people" are not kept off our marches. If they are not there, it is because they choose not to come. Thus they are themselves responsible for the phenomenon they complain of!

Our youngsters may not — yet — be adequately trained or disciplined, but they keep our Union Jacks flying in the face of the Red Mob. We say to them: Welcome! We don't care how you cut your hair if your hearts are in the right place!

To those members who who don't support our marches, but who sneer at those who do, we say: Hold your tongues! and thank God for the courage of our youngsters.

NF News seeks to persuade its readers to feel angry about the evils of multi-racialism and to direct their anger solely at the corrupt politicians who created a racial problem in Britain, and not to the Immigrant people in general. "Racialism" is NOT unlawful — only "racial hatred".

WHAT ARE HALF MILLION IRANIANS DOING IN BRITAIN?

RECENT Home Office figures show that a staggering 237,091 Iranians were admitted to Britain in 1978. Early this year, the Daily Telegraph reported that 1,000 Iranians a day were entering Britain during an unspecified period.

We can calculate, therefore, taking into account unknown Iranian immigration during 1979, that Britain is currently playing host to about 500,000 Iranians.

Just what are half a million Ayatollah-worshipping Iranian fanatics doing in this country? Iran was never part of the British Empire, so there are no Commonwealth "obligations" involved.

Whispers from the City allege that the Foreign Office engineered a deal some years ago in which, in return for Iran instantly buying sinking British pounds about to be dumped on the money market by German banks, thus preventing a run on sterling, the quid pro quo was unlimited Iranian immigration into Britain.

Would the SAS have been better employed storming the Foreign Office and spraying it with bullets?

IMPORTS DESTROYING OUR TEXTILE INDUSTRY

CHEAP FOREIGN IMPORTS are killing off the British textile industry. Without import controls the industry could collapse totally within two years.

This appalling prospect is the direct result of the failure of successive British governments to protect our textile industry from the competition of coolie labour in the Far East, slave labour in Eastern Europe, and American and Common Market dumping.

The textile centres of Yorkshire, the North West and the East Midlands are rapidly being turned into industrial wastelands. Mill closures scarcely get a mention in local newspapers. Unemployed textile workers now get jobs breaking up redundant looms for scrap.

In 1966 there were 757,300 workers in the British textile industry. Today the figure is 452,000 and dropping almost weekly. In other words 305,300 people or 40% of the workforce have lost their jobs.

Even more alarming are the figures for the wool textile industry, where the workforce of 105,000 in 1969 has been halved in ten years.

The historic Wool Exchange at Bradford had more than 1,000 members after the war. Today there are less than 150. In the cotton industry alone 40,000 jobs have been lost since 1970, and mills have been closing at the rate of one a week.

Jobs in the wool, textile and clothing industry in West Yorkshire are now disappearing at the rate of over 17,000 a year, according to the action committee set up by unions, management and local authorities. This year, from mid-January to March 4th, there was a total of 2,321 redundancies at 55 mills.

CATASTROPHE

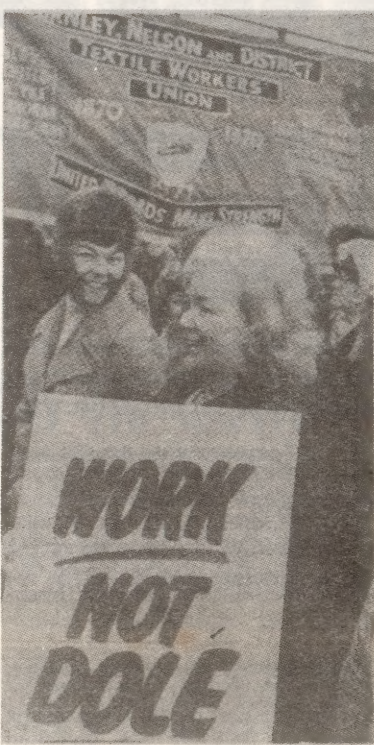

One reason for this catastrophe is the flood of cheap imported textiles from the Third World.

According to David Wilkinson, managing director of Huddersfield Fine Worsteds, only 1 in 40 of his class at Huddersfield Technical College in the immediate post-war years was an Englishman. The rest were Third World immigrants learning British skills in order to flood the British market thirty years later with cheap products of their sweated labour in the Far East.

Millions of woven cotton garments and tons of cotton cloth pour into Britain from India every year.

During the 1970's the hosiery and knitwear industry based largely in the East Midlands, was devastated by cheap imports from Hong Kong, South Korea and Taiwan.

In 1966 only 9 per cent of knitted garments sold in Britain were foreign made. By the late 1970's this figure had risen to 27 per cent, and as high as 40 per cent for

Dole is all these women and millions of other workers will get unless we stop imports knitted outerwear.

Today this ruination of the British textile industry is being completed by imports from America, Communist Eastern Europe and the Common Market, whose regulations prevent Britain from banning foreign imports.

Italian woollen products are pouring into Britain. The Italian woollen industry undercuts British prices (despite higher wage rates) by evading legislation on safety, pollution and national insurance contributions, and by employing child labour.

E.E.C. SWINDLES

'Outward processing' is a Common Market fiddle that could soon spell the end of the British industry. This is the shipping of cloth from EEC countries to low-cost Mediterranean countries for finishing. The finished goods then qualify as a Common Market product and are entitled to free circulation in all EEC countries, including Britain.

This swindle thus manages to undercut British prices and export much-needed British jobs simultaneously!

The Common Market was supposedly going to ensure that the burden of Far Eastern textile imports was shared by EEC countries under the Multi-Fibre Agreement (MFA).

The truth is that while West Germany imports 4.5 million jerseys and pullovers a year, and France 105,000, Britain imports more than 15 million.

So pleased are our EEC 'partners' to see the destruction of our textile industry that the Germans, Danes and Dutch are campaigning against moves to protect it from the invasion of American nylon carpet imports.

It is American imports that threaten to destroy the British synthetic textile industry. Thousands of jobs and entire synthetic textile plants are threatened by the flood of nylon imports from America, which benefits from a cheap fuel subsidy to industry.

IRON CURTAIN DUMPING

Iron Curtain countries are also allowed to dump on the British market their cheap, subsidised products — such as wool suits from Czechoslovakia costing as little as £12.50. The British textile industry action committee wants the notorious £8 suit from Rumania banned, but no such controls can be imposed without EEC permission.

Mr. John Nott, Tory Secretary for Trade, recently told the textile industry, that we must not "undermine the rules for trade relations throughout the world, laid down under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the Treaty of Rome," by imposing import controls.

We say that our textile industry can only be saved from destruction by abandoning lunatic free trade theories of "bracing competition," abandoning "international trade agreements" and Common Market membership, and by a total ban on foreign textile imports.

TEN VITAL BOOKS FOR YOU TO READ

NATIONALIST BOOKS, the NF book department, has a wide range of literature that is essential reading for Nationalists. Here, NF News reviews ten books that are vital reading for those members and supporters who wish to broaden their understanding of both NF policies and the Nationalist outlook.

1 THE BIOLOGY OF THE RACE PROBLEM. Prof. W. C. George. 90p (postage 17p).

Though more expensive academic works have brought the subject up-to-date, Prof. George's booklet is still the best, easy-to-read introduction to racial biology. Prof. George explains the mechanism of heredity and genetics and devotes separate chapters to fundamental race differences, the genetic inheritance of racial differences in intelligence and their physical basis in the brain, the question of racial mixing, the Heredity versus Environment argument and the influence of Franz Boas, founder of the equality hoax.

2 RACE, INTELLIGENCE & EDUCATION. 30p (postage 10p).

This booklet is a reply to the notorious National Union of Teachers booklet with which the NUT attempted to peddle leftist equalitarian fallacies throughout British schools. Race, Intelligence & Education completely demolishes the unscientific absurdities of the NUT, and in so doing provides an extremely useful short survey of the race issue with special emphasis on racial intelligence.

3 THE NEW UNHAPPY LORDS. A. K. Chesterton. £1.00 (postage 26p).

Written by the founding Chairman of the National Front, this book remains the most lucid and eye-opening exposure of the secret international financial power that is working to abolish nation states and dragoon mankind into a 'One World' dictatorship. Chesterton shows how International Finance subsidised the Bolshevik Revolution, pressured for World War II and afterwards subverted British imperial power. Essential reading for those who want to understand the real forces at work in international affairs.

4 THE NAKED CAPITALIST. W. Kleon Skousen. £1.80 (postage 36p).

This is a study of the same secret financial power based in the United States that seeks a global tyranny. By a former FBI agent, the book places special emphasis on the close connection between the Communist conspiracy and the founders of the World Bank, the IMF and the United Nations. Skousen also reviews the mysteriously banished book Tragedy and Hope by Prof. C. Quigley, an 'insider' of the international financial elite who admitted its involvement in a global power-grab.

5 NONE DARE CALL IT CONSPIRACY. Gary Allen. 75p (postage 14p).

An excellent account of the international financial power structure, how it has sustained Russian communism and why international capitalism needs to promote One World 'socialism'. Not to be trusted on its view of Cecil Rhodes or Hitler, but nevertheless an important book for an understanding of the early history of the Money Power and the 'Establishing of the Establishment.'

6 WORLD REVOLUTION. Nesta Webster. £3.00 (postage 46p).

A reprint of the 1921 classic history of subversive movements since the 18th century. Nesta Webster lectured on subversion to the British Secret Service and was regarded as the leading authority on the communist conspiracy and the origins of world revolution. Her book, based on the lecture to the Secret Service, is a devastating exposure of how the proponents of Marxian Socialism (with their well-financed 'revolutions') exploit the 'proletariat' as cannon fodder in their squalid lust for power.

7 BEYOND CAPITALISM AND SOCIALISM. NF Publication. 30p (postage 10p).

Subtitled "Industrial Policy for the Modern Age", this booklet is the National Front's official economic and industrial policy document and is essential reading for NF members. The booklet exposes the fallacies of laissez-faire capitalism and left-wing socialism and argues for a modern economic system, free of internationalist restrictions, that puts Britain and British workers first. Explains the corrupt nature of the financial system that is at the root of our industrial and economic ills.

8 THE ECONOMICS OF WAR AND PEACE. A. M. Wade. 20p (postage 10p).

The best available short study of the debt system of finance which creates poverty, unemployment and inflation. Describes in concise form how the modern banking system works: i.e. how private banks are allowed to create the money our economy needs, and issue it as an interest-bearing debt on the community, which inevitably creates inflation. Explains the alternative, and the history of alternative financial practices.

9 THE DISPOSSESSED MAJORITY. Wilmot Robertson. £3.50 (postage 93p).

A highly important book that has attracted worldwide attention. Though written in an American context, this book analyses the nature of the global race conflict.

Robertson shows that the sickness of the West is the sickness of its White Majority. The White Man has been dispossessed of his pre-eminent position by an addiction to liberal values and by the rampant virus of 'minority racism', which have sapped his resistance and his will to prevail. Explains how Whites have become the losers in the race war, and what must be done.

10 WHICH WAY WESTERN MAN? W. G. Simpson. £3.50 (postage 93p).

A formidable philosophical work from the racist standpoint. Not all its conclusions will be endorsed by Nationalists, but as a work going to the root of the crisis confronting Western Man it should be read and discussed. Modern 'liberal' values, says the author, must be totally reversed to produce the "ennoblement of man".

Peach: the guilty men

SOMEWHERE there must be an old Chinese proverb to the effect that "he who takes part in riots must expect to die young." Unfortunately the Great Blair Peach Road Show is destined to run for some time yet — its utterly tedious performance out-matched only by its sickening hypocrisy.

The militant Marxists, the bleeding-heart brigade and the anti-Police lobby all hope to make great mileage from the Inquest into his death. But the facts of the case are clear.

Blair Peach and his comrades in the Socialist Workers' Party and the Anti-Nazi League (ANAL) staged a deliberately violent confrontation with the Police in Southall on the occasion of a National Front election meeting on 23rd April 1979.

During that riot, Peach died from a blow on the head. He got more than he bargained for, but it was little more than he deserved.

Blair Peach was no political novice. He knew full well what he was doing when he went to Southall, seemingly accompanied by Chanie Rosenberg, wife of Israeli Ygael Gluckstein (alias Tony Cliff), shadowy boss of the SWP.

He was a seasoned agitator, a member of that middle class Marxist Mafia, composed of 'students', 'teachers' and 'social workers' which masquerades as the Socialist Workers' Party. He was also (inevitably) a member of the Anti-Nazi League.

The Socialist Workers' Party has no roots in the British working class. It callously exploits immigrants and "ethnic minorities", hoping to build a power-base on their backs.

Along with its front organisation, the Anti-Nazi League, it had conducted a vigorous campaign in Southall immediately the NF election meeting was announced, calling on the Asian population to "Smash the National Front!"

The proclaimed aim of those who sent Blair Peach to his death on that fatal night was to "Smash" the National Front meeting — and with maximum violence.

FIRST AID POST

The Anti-Nazi League, which claims it sought only a "peaceful picket", had set up a first-aid post in the area, clearly making provision for those of its supporters who might come to grief in a violent affray.

By 2 p.m. radio reports were coming through of rioting, looting, wholesale violence against the Police and even the commandeering of buses to the terror of their occupants. Yet the NF meeting was not scheduled to start until 8 p.m.!

At some time during the riot Blair Peach died and an Inquest jury is being asked to consider the circumstances. Inevitably, the instigators of the riot, the real murderers of Blair Peach, have put the blame on the Police.

The Police, it seems, should have stood by and encouraged the riot in the interests of "good race relations".

That seems to be the considered verdict of the "Unofficial Committee of Enquiry", headed by such well-known multi-racialist hacks as Prof. Michael Dummett, Joan Lester, MP, and "wet" clown-clerics such as the Bishop of Willesden.

POLITICAL IMPLICATIONS

The jury may not be asked to delve too deeply into the political implications of the riot or the intentions of its instigators. Yet the record is there for all who care to consider it.

Let Prof. Dummett and the Bishop of Willesden consider the testimony of Dr. Richard Clutterbuck (no friend of the NF) who writes of the Lewisham riot of August 1977:

"The SWP supporters were attacking the Police who confiscated a horrifying armory of weapons including carving knives and a large iron pipe with bolts for use as a club. Some of the demonstrators also carried ammonia with which they attacked policemen's eyes."

"Two policemen were stabbed, one near Lewisham Police Station, sometime after the NF march dispersed."

A brick was thrown through the windscreen of his van which was surrounded by demonstrators shouting 'Kill! Kill! Kill!' while he and his companions were temporarily blinded by broken glass, someone broke in and stabbed him in the back."

"The Times in an interview with Steve Jeffreys, National Organiser of the SWP, asked him repeatedly whether he condoned the use of knives, bottles, bricks and other offensive weapons by the demonstrators."

"Each time he replied that the National Front had to be stopped. When a reporter said: 'In other words Yes' he did not reply."

At Ladywood, Birmingham, in 1978, outside an election meeting of the National Front, a riot ended in wholesale looting of local shops and violence to local people. Of 400 police present 58 were injured, six of them seriously.

ANAL
Organiser

Again the riot was stage-managed by the Socialist Workers' Party. Kim Gordon, the SWP candidate, was reported by the Daily Mail as saying:

"Our intention is to frighten people from joining the Front. We want to intimidate them. I can understand Black youngsters carrying weapons. They are not afraid. They are just more militant."

The Marxist Left in Britain has a continuous record of violence against its political opponents. Red Lion Square, Lewisham, Ladywood,

SWP 'legal adviser'

Southall are just its latest manifestations. Thus Blair Peach was a victim of his own violent philosophy.

If murdered he was, it was by the squalid coterie of Jews and British middle-class racial renegades who lead the party to which he belonged and who stimulated the riot in which he died.

M.P.'s ACT TO STIFLE N.F. PUBLIC ORDER EVIDENCE

DURING recent months the House of Commons Select Committee on Home Affairs has been taking evidence from a wide number of bodies and individuals in respect of possible changes to laws which affect public order — especially the Public Order Act, the Representation of the People Act and the Race Relations Act.

The Committee was set to review these laws by the Home Secretary as a result of the riot in Southall on 23rd April last year staged by Asian and Anti-Nazi League demonstrators protesting against the holding of a National Front election meeting at Southall Town Hall.

The Select Committee did not think fit in the first instance to invite the National Front to submit evidence, despite the fact that clearly the National Front was central to the stimulus for a review of the above-mentioned laws.

Only after evidence had been submitted by the Commission for Racial Equality and other bodies and individuals opposed to the NF, did the NF write to the Committee and ask for the right to submit evidence.

Many of the proposals received by the Committee before and after the submission by the NF of its evidence were explicitly and implicitly designed to inhibit the capacity of the National Front to function. In such evidence, numerous very serious errors of fact in respect of the NF, its policies and activities, were canvassed.

Most of such evidence received widespread coverage in the mass media because the bodies or individuals submitting written evidence were subsequently invited to present oral evidence to the Committee, and such hearings are attended by the Press.

Furthermore, the text of such bodies' or individuals' written and oral evidence was published by the Committee in separate volumes and put into public circulation.

The National Front submitted its written evidence, prepared by Martin Webster, NF National Activities Organiser, on 14th April 1980. On 22nd April the Clerk to the Committee, Mr. R. J. Willoughby, wrote to the NF stating that the Committee would not invite NF representatives to submit oral evidence.

As a result the media has been denied an opportunity of having a knowledge of, and thus reporting to the public, the NF's proposals.

In addition, as the Committee has declined to take oral evidence from the NF, not even the NF's written evidence will be published by the Committee in a separate volume and circulated to the public in the way that anti-NF evidence (written and oral) has been published and circulated.

CONTRARY

Quite clearly, this Select Committee has acted to stifle the evidence from the very body which stimulated its investigations in the first place. Such an action is quite contrary to the spirit of statements recently made by the Home Secretary, Mr. William Whitelaw, when the Home Office published its 'Green Paper' on public order matters.

On that occasion Mr. Whitelaw stated that he intended the 'Green Paper' to be a "contribution to the public debate currently being conducted on public order problems."

The National Front is frequently attacked in Parliament and in the media for being the cause of public order problems. We rarely are granted the right to defend ourselves and state our case.

Now, when Parliament is considering law changes designed to try and cripple our party, our contribution to the "debate" is stifled, after every facility has been granted to promote the opinions of those who seek to arouse a legislative lynch mob against the National Front.

But the NF will not be silenced. Arrangements are in hand to produce a printed edition of the NF's submission of evidence which will be circulated to the press and other opinion leaders prior to a Press Conference and special "Jail Red Riot Leaders" rally in London.

Watch out for details in NF bulletins!

LABOUR CRIPPLES SEEK TROTSKYITE CRUTCHES

THE ballyhoo surrounding the publication of Lord Underhill's report exposing Marxist infiltration of the Labour Party has further helped to reveal just how deeply divided the party is. The time serving careerists comprising Labour's 'Right-wing' are still in a majority amongst its MPs, but control of its National Executive, headquarters, constituency organisations and national delegate conferences is becoming increasingly exercised by Trotskyite Marxists.

The careerists and other opportunists — exemplified by people like Harold Wilson and his circle of Zionist 'businessmen' — are no match for ideologically motivated fanatics.

Armed with a developed ideology and ruthless determination, and aided by their Marxist allies in the Tribune Group, the young Trotskyites of the Militant Tendency are cutting through the Labour Party like a hot knife through butter.

The Militant Tendency has already taken complete control of the Labour Party Young Socialists. Under the guise of being "loyal Labour Party members" they are also infiltrating the Trade Unions such as the Civil and Public Services Association — the biggest Civil Service union.

Concurrent with this takeover, a dialogue has opened between the Marxists inside the Labour Party and those outside it concerning the possible formation of a 'Popular Front'.

Such a move was foreshadowed by the founding of the violent criminal conspiracy known as the Anti-Nazi League (ANAL), which united Marxists from the Labour Party, the Communist Party, the Socialist Workers' Party and the International Marxist Group.

Indicative of the SWP's growing connections with the Labour Party was the appointment of leading SWP member and ANAL Official Sponsor, Paul Foot, to a top journalistic post on the International Capitalist but pro-Labour Party Daily Mirror.

(Being the nephew of leading Labour MP and Marxist Tribune Group member, Michael Foot, helps to open many doors into the lucrative Big Business connections enjoyed by many of both Labour's 'moderates' and Marxists.)

The SWP is also extending its connections with the Communist Party. The 8th March issue of the SWP's paper, Socialist Worker, carried a half-page advertisement for a Communist Party Easter Weekend conference addressed by prominent SWP member and ANAL Steering Committee member, Nigel Harris, and by the SWP's wild-faced "intellectual", Duncan Hallas.

On 17th March a meeting (again advertised in Socialist Worker 8.3.80) was held by the Labour Co-ordinating Committee, which operates from 9 Poland Street, London W1 — a property owned by the Quaker Rowntree Trust which has housed a wide range of 'Left-wing' groups including ANAL in its early days.

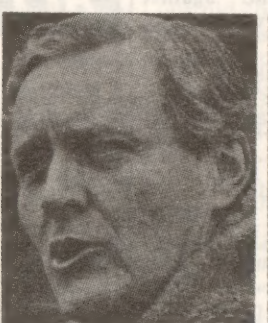

The meeting, held at Central Hall, Westminster, was chaired by Peter Hain (ANAL Founder Organiser and Press Officer and Tribune Group member), and was addressed by Tony Benn, MP, Paul Foot, Stuart Holland (Labour MP for Vauxhall), the former Labour MP Audrey Wise (ANAL Steering Committee member and Tribune Group member), and Tariq Ali (leading member of the International Marxist Group).

The meeting did not go smoothly and it remains to be seen whether the 'Popular Front' will ever materialise.

The highly centralised SWP has no time for the institutionalised factionalism of the IMG.

The Workers' Revolutionary Party — "the most principled and genuinely Trotskyite" of the Far Left groups — is fiercely sectarian and justly suspicious of the clique of rich Jewish businessmen with close family connections who own the SWP's assets and dominate its upper echelons.

The CP, despite the defection of some hardline Stalinists into the New Communist Party, remains restricted by virtue of being Moscow's chosen instrument.

The most important difference, however, is not ideological but tactical. On one hand are the 'Entryists' who seek a Marxist Britain through controlling the Labour Party. On the other hand are those who belong to independent parties which contest elections in their own right.

The Entryists want to bring Marxists together, but they want to do so under the banner of the Labour Party, by attracting individual members of the other groups to join them inside it.

The leaderships of the independent groups might be willing to participate in an alliance but jealously cling to their separate structures. Indeed, the Militant Tendency and the SWP used ANAL as a battleground to poach supporters from one another.

Only the IMG is willing to dissolve itself (something that it has already pretended to do), partly strategic defeat.

After the Bolshevik conquest of Russia during and after the First World War, its supporters believed that Communism would sweep the world.

When, instead, fiercely anti-Communist movements of national regeneration sprang up in the path of the Red onslaught, the Communist parties outside the Soviet Union lost confidence in their ability to come to power, and scurried into defensive alliances in the form of 'Popular Fronts'.

With the exception of the Militant Tendency — whose relatively new (but highly motivated) members have achieved their inroads into the Labour Party — the groups on the outside are demoralised and in disarray.

The ageing and declining Communist Party is literally dying out. The Socialist Workers' Party has had internal troubles of its own and is static: the media-boostered support enjoyed by ANAL proved ephemeral and largely useless to the growth of the SWP. The IMG is too minuscule to be of any significance. The WRP is both static and isolated.

For these groups the formation of a 'Popular Front' would be an act of desperation, just as it was historically. As Peter Hain said at the beginning of the LCC debate: "Support for Socialist (i.e. Marxist) ideas and support for Socialist (i.e. Marxist) movements are at their lowest ebb."

At the time of the Grosvenor Square riot in 1968 there were scores of thousands of militant Reds and only a handful of NF members. Today, our active hardcore of the NF has vastly increased, and the bright eyes of our young supporters are cast to the horizon in the sure knowledge that tomorrow belongs to us.

OUR CANDIDATE WAS DENIED HALL...

...SO WE TOOK TO THE STREETS!

LEWISHAM housewife Mrs. Lynda Mirabita was nominated as the NF's candidate in the recent Greater London Council by-election for Lewisham West in order to draw public attention to the way in which the Labour-controlled Lewisham Council breaks the law.

The Representation of the People Act requires local authorities to provide candidates in elections with halls in which to hold public election meetings. Lewisham Council has consistently flouted this law where NF candidates are concerned.

So when Mrs. Mirabita's application for a hall was refused the NF announced a protest march through the constituency for 20th April — making it clear that the march would be called off if the Council agreed to provide a hall.

The Council tried, but failed, to get a High Court injunction ordering the Police Commissioner to ban the march. Again the NF offered to call off the march if a hall was provided.

VIOLENT ANTICS

Lewisham Council refused to see sense and obey the law, so the march took place and hundreds of thousands of pounds' worth of Police effort was deployed, thanks to the violent antics of the Anti Nazi League.

The NF march was a great success. More than 800 marchers paraded through the borough to uphold the NF's right of assembly and right of free speech.

Most of the 67 people arrested were ANA hooligans, including four West Indians with petrol bombs.

Yes—I marched.
Yes—of course I am a racist!

— Dr. Robert Mitchell
Lewisham G.P.

SPEAKING at the rally in support of Mrs. Mirabita was local GP Dr. Robert Mitchell. He declared: "Since the Black invasion Lewisham has become the backwater trash-can of the world!" In later press interviews he said: "Yes — I am a racist. Inter-racial marriages would put back genetics 100,000 years. Blacks are the major sufferers in a multi-racial society because they are made to feel their inferiority all the time. I would like to see Blacks repatriated."

Union Jacks held high in Oldham

ALL 37 people arrested in Oldham on Saturday 12th April during a demonstration by Oldham Branch of the NF were members of the Anti Nazi League or their Immigrant supporters.

The Branch announced its local demonstration too far in advance enabling Red troublemakers from all over Lancashire to mobilise, with the result that the 100 NF marchers were greatly outnumbered.

Nevertheless, the Branch pressed ahead with its demonstration and rally, which was addressed by NF Chairman Andrew Brons (pictured above).

'SAVE BRITISH STEEL' MARCH IN CORBY

"BRITISH Jobs for British Workers — Ban Foreign Imports!" was the theme of the National Front's annual St. George's Day march — held this year in Corby on Saturday 26th April.

Corby is a steel town in Northamptonshire. It was built up as a new town since the last war around the British Steel Corporation's plant.

The town is entirely dependent on steel. Now, thanks to Common Market regulations, foreign-made steel is being dumped in Britain and the BSC have decided to close the Corby works. The town faces disaster.

Thus 800 NF marchers paraded through the town carrying placards reading: "Corby Must Not Die! Ban Foreign Imports!" They were led by NF Chairman Andrew Brons and NF Deputy-Chairman Richard Verrall.

A welcome feature of this march was the attendance of the reformed NW of England Regional Drum Corps. Their smart turn-out and crisp drumming set the tone for the whole march.

Because of the drum corps and more efficient stewarding, the NF column was one of the smartest and most orderly to have been seen in recent years.

A portion of Corby's population are Glasgow Irish, and this element turned out of the pubs in the town centre, just as the NF column passed through.

Anti Nazi League agitators from Sheffield and Leicester excited serious disturbances, and Police used riot shields.

At the rally site, NF Activities Organiser Martin Webster was hit in the face by a Red who had infiltrated the NF crowd.

Addressing the rally (in a personal capacity) was a Yorkshire ISTC shop steward, Michael Day.

NF Directorate member John Tyndall, who was not on the march, later described the NF marchers as "the usual rabble".

N.F. TO LAUNCH NEW MAGAZINE

NEW NATION is to be the title of the National Front's own official magazine. The first issue will be published on 30th June.

Its Editor will be Richard Verrall, and its Assistant Editor will be Martin Webster. The Editorial Advisory Board will be the NF Policy Committee.

Mr. Verrall said: "The NF has long needed a political and ideological forum which is independent of private or factional interests."

"New Nation will be bigger than other nationalist magazines, and will sell at 50p. We will start with quarterly issues, but we aim at monthly publication."

A rally to launch New Nation will be announced in a forthcoming NF Organisers Bulletin.

Slough meeting a corker!

"ONE of the most exciting meetings we've ever attended!" was the unanimous verdict of more than 200 people who attended a South England St. George's Day rally at the Manor Park Hall, Slough.

As a result of Left Wing allegations that the rally was held to "celebrate the death of Blair Peach", a baying Red rabble was outside the hall — but this only contributed to the electric atmosphere inside.

Each of the speakers — YNF Organiser Joe Pearce, NF National Activities Organiser Martin Webster, NF Deputy-Chairman Richard Verrall and NF Chairman Andrew Brons — won roars of enthusiastic applause with rousing speeches.

Slough NF Organiser Tom Mundy, Chairman, took a £315 collection — and rewarded the audience with free beer!

college could be taken as meaning that such a meeting had not taken place anywhere else, Mr. Banks' secretary said that she could not say anything more.

Mr. Banks' seemingly categorical denial that such a meeting ever took place is in stark contrast to Mr. Drake's refusal to deny that it had taken place. Mr. Banks' reluctance to be questioned by NF News does not enhance his credibility.

REDS IN FIASCO

The general meeting of the Harrogate College Students' Union turned out to be a fiasco for the Reds.

Trevor Phillips, at the last moment, lost his nerve. His place at the debate was taken by the NUS Area Representative — a nonentity ignoramus from Leeds. He was supported by a half-blind, half-Negro legal adviser to the Leeds Council for Community Relations.

Mr. Brons obviously could not speak at the debate himself, so he was represented by NF Directorate member Ian Anderson, a former NF Students Organiser at Oxford University who has family connection with Harrogate and friends at the College.

Mr. Anderson demolished the Marxist and multi-racist babble with ease. Resolutions calling on the College Union to campaign against Mr. Brons and against "racism" were overwhelmingly rejected.

A resolution declaring: "It is the right of individuals to live peacefully in this country regardless of race, faith, colour or creed" was only carried after the words "or political affiliation" had been added.

Despite this victory, we cannot expect either the Marxists or the Establishment to abandon their campaign to victimise our brave young Chairman. The party must be ready to mobilise itself in his support.
